

Arizona's Most Personalized Matchmaking Service

Bonnie Wills, Matchmaker and owner of Bonnie The Matchmaker, is a happily married lady of 22-plus years. Bonnie The Matchmaker is Arizona's most personalized matchmaking service, catering to the needs of busy professionals.

Bonnie says, "Our service is the place 'Where people who wouldn't be caught dead working with a matchmaker meet others who wouldn't consider it if their lives depended on it!'"

The truth is that people come to me in the hopes of meeting someone 'special' who are at least at the same level of education and from the same or similar socio-economic backgrounds as themselves," says Wills. "They do not have problems getting dates. They lead very busy lives and are very selective about who they go out with. They are educated professionals seeking potential mates." In fact, all clients must be: educated (degreed), working (or retired) professionals that are height/weight proportionate and non-smokers. (It is just too hard to place smokers today.)

There are over 1,000,000 singles in the Valley today, but it is still difficult given the restrictions of time and logistics. Bonnie says, "we do the legwork, so the clients have the fun. We broaden their options by narrowing the field."

Safety is another concern of both men and women today. Bonnie says they make sure that the potential matches have a clean background.

"We do criminal background checks for safety and peace of mind for our clients."

Bonnie The Matchmaker is an old-fashioned matchmaking service with a modern way of doing business. Prospective clients had better have a computer or access to one, with a working email address, to even be considered. "We work in 'real time' in today's business world, and matchmaking is no different. We can, and do, network internationally with other matchmakers via email. I can get a photo and a profile to a matchmaker in New York or London in minutes, so why would I do it any other way?"

Now you are probably wondering what it costs to work with a matchmaker. Bonnie says that when single people hire a matchmaker, they are simply hiring a professional, the same way one would employ a decorator, or an accountant. The fees are affordable and very competitive, but it is NOT internet pricing. So as Bonnie would say, "don't come unless you are serious AND ready to invest in YOUR FUTURE!"

On the other hand, you have probably heard about those 'high end' matchmaking services. Well, go no further. During the past year, Bonnie The Matchmaker has started (by popular demand) a registry (or database) of exceptional women, appropriately called Exceptional Women Registry- 2004, consisting of women of all ages interested in meeting well-heeled gentlemen, or as Bonnie says, "men who have reached their financial goals in life." The good news for ladies is that it is only a few hundred dollars to register for this program, and that includes a make-up artist to 'glam' the ladies and a professional photographer to shoot their photos..

She says, “Anyone can get married (if they want to), and there is someone out there for everyone. Attitude is everything! Happy clients wind up in happy relationships. That’s why we have an impressive number of marriages.
